

DAILY WITNESS

GONE DOWN WITH ALL HANDS.

When we read such an announcement as this it sends a thrill of horror through our very being. And yet the number of lives lost by accidents at sea are very few compared to the number which are sacrificed to single diseases on land. Take Consumption. Statistics show that twenty per cent of all deaths are due to this fatal malady. It would be easier to reconcile ourselves to the fearful fact if there were no remedy. But there is. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands, and among them many whom the doctors have given up to die. If seeing is believing, then the thousands of living witnesses to its marvelous efficacy, in cases of this kind, ought to convince the most skeptical. According to all medical authorities, Consumption is Scrofula affecting the lung tissues, and for Scrofula in all its myriad manifestations no remedy has ever been found to equal the "Golden Medical Discovery." Hence, it has become famous as a remedy for Consumption. If afflicted, do not put off its use until too late. For all lingering coughs, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is absolutely unequalled as a remedy.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Short Breath, Consumptive Night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines. It is guaranteed to benefit or cure, if taken in time and given a fair trial, in all diseases for which it is recommended, or the money paid for it will be promptly returned.

ON GERMAN SOIL

Socialism as a Political Factor
Has Taken Deepest Root.

Yesterday's Elections Show Surprising Results in All Parts of the Empire.

An Increase of 35,000 Socialist Votes in the City of Berlin—The Probable Complexion of Parliament—Unexpected Falling Off in the Ranks of the Conservatives—Sir John Macdonald's Strong Plea for Unity in Canada—Plans Proposed to Encourage the Growth of National Sentiment and Stem the Tide of Annexation—Alarming Spread of Leprosy in New Caledonia—Foreign News.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—In this city, yesterday's vote resulted as follows:

First District—Progressist, 6,700; Conservative, 4,600; Socialist, 3,500. Second District—Prof. Virehow, 18,000; the Socialist candidate, 10,000; Conservative, 8,000.

Third District—Progressist candidate, 11,476; Socialist, 12,380. In all these districts, therefore, socialist elections were necessary. In the Fifth District the Progressist candidate had 10,100 and the Socialist 7,140.

At Marburg the socialist vote was elected. At Munich a second election is necessary in the First District in the Second District a Socialist is elected.

At Leipzig a second election is necessary. A Socialist is elected for Meissen in Saxony. At Weimar a Socialist is elected for Danzig. At Zittau, Koenigsberg, Stettin and Lubec second elections are necessary.

For Meiningen a Progressist is elected. INCREASED SOCIALIST VOTE. The impression is growing that the Government parties have lost their seats, while the Socialists throughout Germany have doubled their vote.

The great fact of the election is the enormous and unexpected increase in the socialist vote. This party has manifested strength in places where it was unknown before, and other parties will have to make a firm combination against it to stem the tide in the supplementary elections. In the vote in Posen the socialist vote is increased 20,000; the Deutsche Freisinnige 10,000, and the Conservatives have lost 34,000. The election of two Socialists as representatives of this city in the Reichstag is certain. In four districts the city no candidate has a majority, therefore there is no choice in those districts, and supplementary elections will be necessary.

Four Conservatives, one National Liberal, eleven Catholics, seven Socialists, two Poles, two Austrians and ten of the Deutsche Freisinnige party are elected.

Herren Grilleberger, Schmidt, Seyditz and Karm, Socialists, have been elected to the Reichstag in Nuremberg. Mitteleide, Schneberger and Elberfeld, respectively. The returns thus far received show the election of 5 Conservatives, 3 Progressists, 1 National Liberal, 18 members of the Center party, 2 Liberals, 14 Socialists, 1 National Liberal, 1 Conservative and 1 Austrian. Returns have also been received from 38 other districts. In 4 of these the Socialists have been elected, in 13 by members of the Imperial party, in 17 by members of the Center party and in 16 by members of the Imperial party.

As compared with the last preceding election the Socialist vote has increased by an increase of 35,000 and the Liberal vote an increase of 8,000. The Conservative vote decreased by 10,000. The vote in Posen was elected in this city. In three districts second ballots will be necessary. The Socialists carried Marburg, Altona, Hamburg, Dresden District, the Leipzig District, Chemnitz and Zwickau.

Herrn Busch, a National Liberal, defeated Herr Schefferman, a Protestant, at Molsheim. Herr Busch, a National Liberal, was elected at Mulhausen. Herr Stollitz, Ultramontane, defeated a Socialist at Essen. Herr Gratz, a National Liberal, was elected at Guertel. Herr Lang, at Schleissdorf. Herr Hofel at Seaborn and Herr Delius at Altona.

Aspirants for Socialism, bent on celebrating their splendid victory, collided with the police.

A mounted officer was dragged from his horse and terribly beaten. His legs were broken, and he was carried to the hospital in the Blumens Strasse, which was subsequently demolished by the mob.

each and all to work hand in hand with the mover of this measure, and so to disposing of this vexatious question, that it may be buried forever and forever from our thoughts. Think of the awful consequences should this cry which raises race against race, creed against creed, religion against religion, and language against language be continued. It will ruin the prosperity of our country; it will ruin our credit; it will ruin our commerce; it will ruin our industry; it will ruin our life.

TO A HIGHER COURT

The Plan Proposed by Mr. Carlisle to Test the Legality of Reed's Ruling.

When Individual or Property Rights Are Interfered With the Issue Will Be Made.

Anti-Letter Legislation—The President Resumes His Duties After the Carnegie Visit—A Celebrated Land Grant Case Disposed Of—Chairman Willard's Will Not Get What He Wanted—Jugglers' Stock Rising—Bridges Still Out of a Job—The Day's Proceedings in the Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—The Democratic leaders in the House have held several conferences lately to consider the question of testing the constitutionality of Speaker Reed's ruling that "members present, but not voting, shall be counted to make a quorum."

Indeed, Mr. Carlisle virtually fore-shadowed such action in his remarks in the House on the 18th inst. when he said: "This question must go to some other forum when a proper case arises, and I desire to say that it is the purpose of this side of the House to see that this question shall be brought before the courts, which shall enable the proper tribunals of the country to pass upon it finally and conclusively."

When asked what he meant by a proper case arising Mr. Carlisle said: "I mean whenever a bill is passed which effects the rights of an individual or of property. Then the person or the corporation whose rights are abridged, or whose property is affected may seek redress in the courts by testing the constitutionality of the bill passed under Speaker Reed's ruling as to what constitutes a quorum. Of course we cannot take the matter before the courts; we can only refrain from voting on some measure which will involve the rights of some person or property and so create the occasion for testing the constitutionality of the Speaker's decision. We are all convinced it will not stand. A good measure of which to make the test would be an amendment to the interstate commerce law. Such legislation affects large interests and the parties affected adversely are numerous. It is a question of money legislation. I think the issue will be made before this session is over, though when I made the statement I was not sure of it. The Republicans will attempt to pass a bill by which the rights of individuals or of property are affected, and then we will have the question of the constitutionality of the Speaker's ruling."

Mr. Carlisle's statement was received with much interest. It was generally believed that the House would not vote on a bill which would involve the rights of individuals or of property, and so create the occasion for testing the constitutionality of the Speaker's decision.

received. Now Mr. Speaker I wish to say that St. Louis should have the world's attention directed toward it. It may say at you all know the capacity of my friend from New York (Mr. Baker). He was fascinated during the time he was here. One hundred-half had not been told of it. My friend from Illinois (Mr. Springer), was so well informed during the same days that he did not suggest the idea of adorning. [Laughter.] Now, sir, I wish to tell my Republican friends that they are divided as to whether it be parties on the other side [great laughter and applause], that is the fact. The National Republican Committee of 1888 the National Republican Committee seeking to spread a Macedonian war, and St. Louis sent the Honorable to the Republican [Laughter and applause.] St. Louis has no more to do than to send one or two others.
